Arrested in Few Hours

Would-be Safe Crackers Quickly Apprehended

The combined efforts of the Vulcan town police and the RCMP detachments at Vulcan, Strathmore and Lethbridge last Friday resulted in the swift apprehension of two youths who broke into the White Rose Service Station and Wheat Centre Motors and then attempted a safe-cracking job at Banks 99 Service sometime Thursday night or early Friday morning.

Within a few hours of the time they had broken into the Banks and Banks Service Station at Vulcan early Friday, David Sigstad, 19, of Elbow, Sask., and William Elson, 19, of Toronto, Ont. pleaded guilty to charges for breaking and entering when they appeared before Magistrate Harry Smith at Champion. They were remanded for sentence until Friday, July 13. It is understood that they have since admitted other break-ins at Calgary, Strathmore and Lethbridge.

Vulcan town police were called Friday morning, when it was discovered that attempts had been made to smash the safe at Banks service station. Town police enlisted the aid of the RCMP and an investigation followed. Meantime members of the Strathmore detachment picked up the two men as 'suspicious characters' and held them for questioning.

Fingerprint experts at the Lethbridge detachment quickly went to work and the youths' prints were found to match those found at the scene of the attempt.

Not only did their stop at Vulcan lead to the apprehension of the pair; it was unprofitable financially. They gained no money at

Regular Meeting Keystone Class

The July meeting of the Keystone Class of the Church of Christ was held at Mrs. J. Deans' home.

Meeting was opened by the singing of hymns, followed by a prayer by Mrs. Deans. The guest speaker for the afternoon was Mr. Neilan Dodson, former minister of the Church at Nanton.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved and the roll call responded to by those in attendance telling of a good deed done by them through the month. After a financial report was given $25.00 was voted to be sent to different missionary funds.

During the afternoon a lovely duet was sung by two of the younger ladies present, Miss Betty Hammer and Miss Mabel Reath.

After the serving of a delicious lunch the hostess was given a vote of thanks. The meeting closed with the ladies joining hands and singing 'Blest be the Tie that Binds.'

Wheat Centre or at Banks garage and at the White Rose only got a handful of change in nickels and dimes.

In Canada the poisoning of lakes and re-stocking has become a proven tool for restoring game fishing in lakes where coarse fish have taken over from such species as trout.

TRAIL RIDERS HOLIDAY IN ROCKIES: The majestic beauty of mountain peaks... the exhilarating thrill of camping in the Canadian Rockies... the panorama of azure blue lakes and alpine scenery—all this awaits the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies. This summer, the organization's mountain holiday includes a five-day ride, from July 13 to July 17, and a six-day ride, from July 20 to July 25. Opportunities for photography, fishing, trail riding, and nature study are plentiful during the day's excursions. In the evenings, sing-songs, and other campfire entertainment are restful and relaxing preludes to a night's sleep under the stars. In the upper left photo is a Trail Rider base camp, set at the foot of a towering mountain. Upper right shows a Trail Rider admiring the wonderful alpine scenery of the Rockies. Saddling up in the crisp, cool morning air in preparation for the ride is a pleasant beginning to a wonderful holiday.

Friday evening, the annual tournament dance will be held in the Champion Community Hall.

Crops Look Good Following Rains

Generally fine weather has prevailed this week with daytime temperatures up to 85, dropping to 55 at night. Moisture conditions are excellent following the big rains in June and at the first of this month and crops are making good progress, although somewhat later than normal.

Attending the groom was his brother Robert Gray of Carmangay and brother of the bride, Irvin Lebsack.

Ushers were Lawrence Vasselin of Calgary and Edward Lebsack. A reception was held in the Ide of Capri, following the church service. Over 100 guests including out of town friends and relatives were from Vulcan, Champion, Carmangay, Lethbridge and Lomond.

The young couple left for a honeymoon in Aberdeen, South Dakota and other U.S. points. While in Aberdeen they were guests of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Schnieder.

SERVICE BOARD NOTES

H. S. Kurns, Field Supervisor

During July and August, I expect to be absent from my office a great deal of the time, but for the convenience of those who wish to see me at the office, I will do my utmost to be there on Mondays in the forenoon hours. Saturday forenoon will usually find me at the office as well. So if you have any problems of which you wish to see me personally, try and be at my office on either of the above days.

In regard to the small spot sprayers which we have for loan we would appreciate it very much if you could do your spraying inside of four days after taking the machine out, weather permitting, otherwise it may be necessary to levy a charge for additional time. We would like to obtain maximum service out of these sprayers during the weed season, and this cannot be done if they stay on one farm for long periods of time.

Some of our common grass seeds have become in short supply during the last few weeks and are difficult or impossible to obtain. Reed Canary grass which is now coming into general use as a wet land grass is also hard to obtain at present.

NITROGEN NEEDS OF GRAIN CROPS

The best way to maintain soil nitrogen is to keep the land well supplied with organic matter, advises Dr. C. F. Bentley, Associate Professor of Soils, University of Alberta. More and more farmers are appreciating the value of combine straw and the benefits accruing from its return to the soil.

When straw is plentiful there may at first be some lowering of crop yield. These fields have not only to supply the crop with the nitrogen it needs but must provide an extra supply to promote decomposition of the straw. As the organic matter decays more nitrogen is released and yields improve.

What to do during the early period of depressed yields is something that is receiving a great deal of attention by the Department of Soils. Nitrogen fertilizers hold some promise but they have not yet proved so widely satisfactory that they can be generally recommended. We can't tell everybody to use nitrogen fertilizers on stubble crops, says Dr. Bentley, but one-third to one-half of the fields on which we have applied nitrogen have actually given paying increases. Our recommendation is that those who see signs of nitrogen deficiency should try a nitrogen fertilizer on part of the field. This suggestion does not apply to the wooded soils; legumes are the answer to nitrogen deficiency there.

Pale yellow-green spindly plants and poor yield are signs of nitrogen shortage. But by the time these signs appear in a grain crop, around the middle of June to the middle of July, it is too late to do anything then. The nitrogen should be applied in fall or spring. These problems of nitrogen deficiency are most likely to occur on fields which have been cropped for 25 or more years and where the combine straw is heavy.

If a field last year showed signs of nitrogen deficiency and you are planning to seed it to grain again this year, try a nitrogen fertilizer on part of the field and compare results, suggests Dr. Bentley. Enough fertilizer should be applied to supply 40 to 60 pounds of nitrogen per acre.

Improve League Standing

Elks Take 3 out of 4 From Granum Club

Vulcan Elks considerably improved their league standing this past week as they bested Granum White Sox in three of four encounters. At Granum last Friday, the Elks swatted down the league-leading White Sox 6-4 in the remainder of a postponed game and 5-0 in a regularly scheduled encounter.

At Vulcan on Sunday the Elks showed a reversal of form as Granum pounded out a 10-3 win in the first game but tightened up in the second encounter to beat the Wesley crew by a close 11-10 score.

In the delayed encounter, the Elks scored two times on the strength of Auggie Scognalechi's homer after Greg Seastrom had tripled in the eleventh inning. Bill Davidson, winner of both games last Friday, took up where he had left off on June 10 when the game was called at the end of nine innings at a four-four sawoff and blanked the Sox. Joe Weremy who took over for Don Johnson in the replay, was charged with the loss. Weremy managed to pick up another defeat in the second contest as he allowed four hits and five runs as White Sox tasted defeat for the second successive time in one evening.

Davidson again toed the rubber for the winners allowing only three hits while his teammates played errorless ball behind him.

Weremy got himself into trouble in the second inning, the inning when Vulcan did all their damage, by giving up a walk to Don Burley and then a single to Don Jantzie. Berkle then drew a walk and Pete Scott singled to drive in what proved to be the winning run. Jantzie was forced at the plate by Davidson and then Weremy walked in Berkle as Fred Burley went to first.

Sharp pitching by Roy Johnson and relief man Joe Weremy held Vulcan to five hits in the lid-lifter while Sox were nipping Bill Davidson for nine safeties. Johnson allowed five free tickets to the gateway sack while striking out four. Weremy walked none and failed to strike out an opposing batter. Davidson got three Sox batters via the strikeout route and walked six. Bob Carlson of Fresno State made his debut with Granum in the first game as he caught the complete nine innings.

Gordie Vejprava was the only White Sox hitter to manage more than one single off the offerings of Davidson as he picked up a pair of singles in five trips. Johnson smacked out a triple.

Davidson bested the losers with two doubles in three trips. Manager George Wesley elected to save his pitching staff in the second game and it cost him. He started regular third baseman Jim Lester and before the Fresno State youngster could be pulled he had allowed nine runs while striking out two and walking three.

Regular first sacker Darwin Walkingshaw came in to relieve and finally Willie Wolasko finished up.

Jervey Burcher went for the full nine for Don Jantzie's crew, firing third strikes past five batters and walking three. He gave up 12 hits.

Don Backie was top stickman for the winners with a single, double and triple in four official trips to the platter. Davidson accounted for a double and triple in four swings.

Fastball Playoffs Start Sunday

In local fastball action last week a team comprised of players from all teams of the Vulcan Fastball League played host to the Dinton squad in preparation for the Provincial Playoffs. Although beaten by a 13 to 9 count the local crew showed signs of power and with a little more playing together should be a real threat every time out.

The team representing Vulcan plays their first and second games of a four-game home and home series at the Vulcan Fastball Park this Sunday with game times being 2 and 4:30 p.m.

The team then plays two games in Dinton the following week.

Tax Collections Set New Record

County of Vulcan tax collections for 1956, up to the end of June, amount to 77% of the total levy—a new record for early payment of taxes.

Last year for the same period receipts were about 70% of the levy.

The fact that 77% of the taxes has been paid so early in the year is particularly noteworthy in these days of small wheat quotas and general shortage of cash and reflects the general stability of the farmers of the county despite the present marketing difficulties.

Trash Cover is Important The extremely windy, dry weather experienced this spring, re-emphasizes the necessity for conserving crop residues, strip farming and surface tillage. During latter years of abundant rainfall the problem of soil drifting was less acute, which has resulted in a discontinuance of these practices in some areas. After the high winds experienced on June 5th and 10th the danger of large areas of black summer-fallow was apparent.

Stubble burning is a very hazardous practice, wasteful of soil fertility. One example of this is well known to the writer. On this particular field, stubble was burned this spring. After the recent high winds the crop was blown cut, and the road ditches were filled with top-soil. Sometimes it is difficult to prepare a seedbed on land carrying a very heavy trash cover, but it can be done without burning.

Tillage implements such as the blade or heavy duty cultivators are a great help in combatting wind erosion especially during drier years. It has been found by research that blade type implements reduce the trash cover by about ten per cent with each stroke. A carefully operated one-way disc reduces trash cover approximately fifty per cent for each stroke. Excessive speed of operation is a bad practice when using a one-way, and even worse for the wide level disk. Heavy duty cultivators are rated next to blade type implements in their ability to conserve trash cover. These machines will work in a heavy trash cover, and also penetrate firm soil, as well as maintain a fairly constant depth of operation. The one-way should not be used as the only tillage implement for summer-fallowing. If drier seasons occur and trash cover is light, the blade or heavy duty cultivator would take preference over disc type machines. Under dry windy conditions conserving all the trash cover possible becomes an absolute must in order to conserve moisture and prevent soil drifting.

Newlyweds To Live At Carmangay

Carmangay, Alberta, is the new home of Mr. and Mrs. James Gray who pledged nuptial vows at an afternoon ceremony in the E. U. B. Church, Calgary, on June 2. Rev. P. A. Wildeman read the marriage lines for Helen Katherine, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Lebsack Jr., of Champion, and James Wm. Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gray of Carmangay.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was lovely in a French net embroidered gown with rosepoint lace, complimented by sequins. The gown of lace over satin featured a Peter Pan collar jacket, and lilypoint sleeves. Delicate embroidery trimmed her fingertip veil of illusion net, which fell from a jeweled coronet, and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Margaret Vasselin of Calgary, chose a mauve gown of nylon marquisette, accented by lace trim and a lace bolero and a braided halo was her head-dress. She carried a bouquet of yellow daisies.

Bridesmaids, Miss Rosalie Hartung of Vulcan and Miss Loretta Kanshunk of Calgary, chose pink and yellow gowns, respectively, of net and taffeta, with braided halos. They carried bouquets of mauve daisies.

The little flower girl, Brenda Lebsack, niece of the bride, was adorable in a pink nylon net over taffeta gown with matching halo. She carried a small bouquet of yellow daisies.

Attending the groom was his brother Robert Gray of Carmangay and brother of the bride, Irvin Lebsack.

Ushers were Lawrence Vasselin of Calgary and Edward Lebsack. A reception was held in the Ide of Capri, following the church service. Over 100 guests including out of town friends and relatives were from Vulcan, Champion, Carmangay, Lethbridge and Lomond.

The young couple left for a honeymoon in Aberdeen, South Dakota and other U.S. points. While in Aberdeen they were guests of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Schnieder.

We're Not Miracle Men

People sometimes wonder why, when they bring in a wedding writeup or other story or even an advertisement on a Wednesday, we cannot guarantee to get their copy in that week's paper.

Although our advertisers and regular news correspondents are familiar with the circumstances making it necessary for us to set our deadline at 5 p.m. on Tuesday of each week, others fail to understand the amount of time and work involved in transforming written copy into the printed story or advertisement in the Advocate.

We must decide not later than Tuesday morning whether the paper is going to be 8, 10, or 12 pages and this depends to a large extent on the known and expected volume of advertising for that particular week. Reading matter in the Advocate is almost exclusively all local and district news, which means that it must be set as it comes in, along with the Vulcan news and the ads. Mail service from some points in the County is such that the news budgets from two or three points do not reach us until Wednesday noon, so we must anticipate the amount of space these will require and try to get them in the last press run. For an eight-page paper we must get two pages printed on Tuesday, if we are running ten pages we must get four pages through the press on Tuesday. This means two or maybe three two-hour press runs on Wednesday plus the first run through the folding machine, while at the same time the type-setting machine is being operated to the limit of its capacity and the news and ads are being assembled into complete pages in the composing room.

We never intentionally leave out news. However, our educated guess as to how much space the last-minute district news will require is sometimes wrong and we simply run out of space, leaving us no alternative but to carry some of it over until the following week. Nobody is sorer than us when this happens, and, unfortunately, it generally affects the same correspondents—those whose news comes in by mail on Wednesday. But the paper has to be all printed on Wednesday in order that the final folding run and the addressing can be done Thursday morning in time to catch the southbound mail at 10:30 a.m.

If you have news or an ad you want in the paper, let us have it on Monday if possible. Getting it early helps us, and you'll be sure of getting in that week's issue.

A Church View On Strikes

The United Church of Canada, in its brief to the Royal Commission on Canada's Economic Prospects, says that the time has come when the right to strike, particularly in large industries whose operations affect the entire economy, should be seriously re-examined.

Strikes, the United Church brief points out, hurt both employers and employees. They also impose hardship on many innocent parties, including the smaller supplier industries, as well as merchants and tradesmen. The fact that organized labor is free to impose such economic hardship upon so many who are not even involved in an industrial dispute, the United Church of Canada rightly believes, is a real threat to national progress and well-being.

Thoughtful Canadians everywhere may be expected to applaud the courageous leadership of the United Church in pointing out as it has to the injustice and hardship that result from strike action in large modern industry. Nowhere is strike action less justified than in rail transport. Yet rail union leaders still loudly proclaim their "inalienable right" to inflict on the country nationwide paralysis of rail transport.

Union leaders, as the United Church properly notes, must learn that in industrial disputes, the common good is paramount to the special interests of the parties. If they fail to do so, they will have nobody but themselves to blame if the public insists that limitations be placed on strike action.

Our memories of you are the best
Until we too are laid to rest."

The school picnic was held on Thursday afternoon with races and treats. The boys played a hardball game against their dads. But they found the men too tough for them. The mothers were defeated in the softball game by a mixed team. There probably were some pretty stiff parents the next day.

GMC STANDARD AND HEAVY-DUTY HYDRA-MATIC
GMC's Standard Hydra-Matic in the light duty series offers four forward speeds automatically shifting in three ranges. High range is for open highways. Medium range is ideal for congested traffic, while low provides maximum traction.

Heavy duty Hydra-Matic, in the 40,000 GVW range, with optional rear axles and reduction units, gives automatic shifting for a wide range of operating conditions. It provides heavier duty components and has greater hydraulic pressure to move heavier loads. Heavy-Duty Hydra-Matic's unique "Hold" position overrides the automatic shift to prevent upshifting. Choose a GMC with Standard or Heavy Duty Hydra-Matic!

GMC POWERMATIC . . . NEWEST AND BEST

POWERMATIC is a new principle in automatic transmissions . . . now available in the 16,000 to 32,000 GVW range of GMC Trucks. The heart of Powermatic is a four-element torque converter that triples engine torque. The torque converter locks out at higher speeds giving the advantage of solid mechanical drive.

Powermatic provides six automatically-shifted gear ratios in three ranges. A finger-flip switches you from range to range. And Powermatic presents the unique Hydraulic Retarder—safe braking for dangerous grades. Ask about a Powermatic-equipped GMC Truck . . . now!

IRON CURTAIN CRASHER

We confess a sneaking respect for one resourceful gentleman who fooled the Commies—albeit by morally dubious means. Seems he would load his hollow aluminum artificial leg with candy, coffee and nylons in West Berlin, then whisk over the border into East Berlin in his motorized wheel chair. He made a neat profit—until the border gendarmes ultimately caught up with him.

More and more businesses—from artificial limbs to shipbuilding—similarly find aluminum a valuable aid to sales and profits. Further major expansion of Alcan's smelters in both Quebec and B.C. is aimed to satisfy the continued increasing demand for the light metal.

Dry and Hay Mixtures

(A. D. Smith, Agronomist)
Crested wheatgrass and alfalfa was the highest yielding mixture in the hay tests recently conducted at three of the Southern Alberta dry land illustration stations. The three year average yield of this mixture was 2.9, 2.6 and 1.4 tons per acre at Craigmyle, Drumheller and Pincher Creek respectively. Intermediate wheatgrass and alfalfa was the next highest yielding mixture. Following this was brome and alfalfa, then timothy and alfalfa; each mixture producing about the same amount of forage. Orchard grass competed with and stunted alfalfa, and because of the competition this was the lowest yielding grass-alfalfa mixture. In these tests crested wheatgrass and alfalfa have grown together without adversely affecting each other and have produced a forage made up of about sixty per cent alfalfa and forty per cent grass. After the second year of production the growth of intermediate wheatgrass declined to where it was only twenty per cent of the hay mixture. Growth of alfalfa was not as vigorous when grown with brome indicating some competition from this grass. Timothy and alfalfa have produced a hay of about equal amounts of grass and alfalfa. There has been some winter killing of orchard grass at Craigmyle, the most northerly station of the three.

Quantity is important in a forage crop, but suitable livestock feeding and soil building properties cannot be overlooked. At the Pincher Creek Station, if cut at the right time, crested wheatgrass and alfalfa have been a better hay for cattle than brome and alfalfa. Perennial grasses and legumes are the best soil building crops because of the nitrogen and fibrous organic matter they accumulate in the soil. Of the five grasses in these hay tests crested wheatgrass generally produces the most fibrous roots. The legume alfalfa, supplies nitrogen, one of the important plant nutrients.

Seven Ages Of Man Parade Through The Corner Drugstore

America's "corner drugstore" has changed, of course, from the old days when it featured nose-tingling 'lemon phosphates' and big jars of horehound and rock candy in bulk. But the drugstore still occupies one of the busiest crossroads of ordinary American life. Air conditioning has replaced the big ceiling fan that used to turn as slowly and inexorably as time itself; and dozens of haunting drug smells, 'compounded on the premises,' have gone with the wind.

The modern druggist, however, perhaps even more than his old-fashioned predecessors, stands in a particularly advantageous position to observe the essential facts of everyday life: the common joys—and sorrows too—and all the tremendous trifles that are probably more vital in the long run than most of the headlines in the daily newspapers.

The druggist is still among the first to see the young father come trailing his own clouds of glory, bustling out all over with such pride in his first child that you'd think he had done it all himself. He orders prodigally of dusting powders, oils, and of course, cigars. The young mother soon drops in for vitamins and such, and all kinds of invaluable advice. Then the baby makes its first personal appearance, to be admired and praised. Before it seems possible, the youngster is running around the store looking at picture books, and, suddenly, becomes a high school boy or girl, showing off that special date. It would take only a few turns of that old-fashioned ceiling fan, and they're in for dusting powders, vitamins and cigars on their own account.

The drugstore is still a meeting place and clearinghouse for daily living. With all its "streamlining" and "wonder" products on the shelves, the modern 'corner drugstore' adds proof to the old adage that "the more things change, the more they remain the same." It still occupies its old place on one of the busiest corners of American life. —Exchange.
